Yanks Cross Han, Tighten Seoul Trap

TOKYO, Monday, Sept. 25 (AP)—U. S. Army infantry shovelled over the Han river southeast of Seoul early today, forging a fourth link in a steel ring closing on the heavily defended Korean capital.

Doughboys of the Seventh division landed at the extreme right of one column of Marines. They walked ashore under the shadow of artillery-studded South mountain, Red-held hill dominating their river crossing point.

CONGRESS FACES HEAVY SESSION

Billions May Be Added
To Nation's Tax Bill; New Stars Pinned on U. S. Flag

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Congress faces a whirlwind one-month "lame duck" session which may add billions to the nation's tax bill and pin two more stars on the American flag.

Returning Nov. 27, the dying 81st Congress is confronted by a mammoth list of issues—Statehood bills for Alaska and Hawaii, consideration of a huge war profits levy, a possible demand for rewriting Communist control legislation, a number of lesser problems left over from the session which recessed yesterday.

The date of resumption is after the Congressional elections, but the casualties suffered in the voting will not leave office until the 82nd Congress takes over early in January. Thus some of those writing laws in December will be so-called "lame ducks."

Taxes will be the big headache—a proposed multi-billion dollar boost in the wartime excess profits of business and industry likely reaching back over part or all of the war period.

THE LAWMAKERS already have ordered a massive $5,000,000,000 increase mainly in the income taxes of 50,000,000 citizens as well as corporations. It was in answer to President Truman's request for a first instalment payment on the cost of defense preparedness. He has urged it be put on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Roofing Company's Truck Is Stolen From Garage

A truck of the J. B. March Roofing company, 25 B. March street, was stolen from the company's garage between 8 o'clock Friday night and 6 o'clock Saturday morning. It was reported later Saturday to borough police.

Teletype and radio messages were sent out describing the truck as a dark green 1939 model, one-half ton pickup, carrying ladder racks. It was valued at $700.

The description also was given members of the borough police force, who were instructed to watch for the vehicle.

Police said the March garage was unlocked.

BORNE BY WINDS FROM THE NORTH

Purple Sun Sets Area Gazers Astir

Pottstown was bathed in a weird yellowish-green light yesterday afternoon as smoke from smouldering forest fires 1500 miles away turned the sun to a pale lavender or purple.

The clouds of smoke, almost invisible for several hours, changed the color of the sky imperceptibly. The first hints of the change came shortly after noon when the sun turned almost white.

Darkening to purple soon after the smoke became thicker, the phenomenon brought inquiries from surprised observers. The first of nearly 100 calls was made the The Mercury before 3 o'clock.

Some women predicted it was the start of another World War. Others believed tonight's eclipse of the moon had arrived a day early.

James Lyons, Boyertown RD 1, attributed the startling color to sun spots when he reported he saw a black spot on the sun's disc through a small telescope.

Ex-Third Grader Cops Laurels in Army Exam

ATLANTA, Sept. 24 (AP)—A young recruit with a Third grade education made the highest score to date on the intelligence test at the Atlanta Induction center, Army officials said today.

The lowest was made by a college junior with a three-year football record.

The standard Army intelligence test is aimed for those with an eighth grade education or less.

16 FOUND ALIVE ABOARD MISSING AIR FORCE PLANE

RCAF Sights Bomber
In Wilds of Labrador;
Evacuation Plans Begin

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 24 (AP)—A U. S. Air Force B50 bomber missing since Thursday was found today in the wilds of Labrador and all 16 men aboard escaped serious injury, the Royal Canadian Air Force said tonight.

Slimy information that came over a shaky Air Force wireless service plagued by unfavorable atmospheric condition said an RCAF Lancaster located the plane about 95 miles southwest of Goose Bay at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The plane, with four passengers and a crew of 12, all military personnel, had been missing on a routine flight from Goose Bay to Tucson, Ariz.

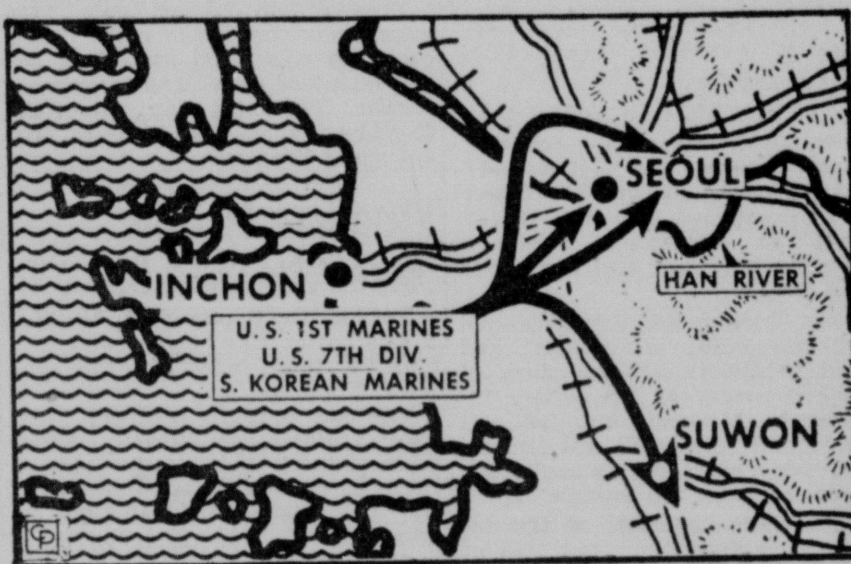

The U. S. Air Force unit at Goose Bay started preparations for evacuating the men. This probably will be done sometime tomorrow with the aid of a helicopter.

Smoke signals attracted the Lancaster, piloted by Flight Officer J. M. Wallace of Halifax, to the area. There the 16 survivors had constructed a shelter.

Signs on the rocky ground asked for food and other supplies. U. S. aircraft in the area dropped the requested supplies. No medical supplies were requested. Officials interpreted this as signifying that none was seriously hurt.

Findings of the plane climaxed a search that scoured the vast area of Canada and the United States extending from Labrador to the Arizona desert. Scores of planes from both countries took part.

The first sweep of the Labrador area started Saturday but the search planes were recalled by bad weather. The plane had not reported to any station after its takeoff. The plane had a (Continued on Page Three)

Attempts to seal off the Communists inside the South Korean capital city of Seoul made headway yesterday. A U. S. ## Soviet Seen Resigned To Korea Red Defeat

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Russia apparently is preparing to write off the crumbling Communist campaign in South Korea as an incident of no importance.

That is the view of the best informed American officials. They say the Soviet position is not completely firm but is clearly tipping toward acceptance of the Red setback in that area.

But the Russian attitude toward Northern Korea may be dramatically different. There is a strong belief here that the Soviet forces or possibly Chinese Communist troops may occupy the country north of the 38th parallel for the expressed purpose of keeping peace but actually to prevent United Nations forces from getting close to Russian security areas like Vladivostok and the Manchurian border.

Ever since the United Nations landings near Seoul there has been, in the opinion of State department experts, a gradual change in Russian propaganda on the Korean war. It gets less time on the Moscow radio. It is given a more moderate handling.

In the last few days, for example, the Russians mildly commented that the landings were a sign of weakness in an effort to save face on the part of the United States.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky made a speech in the U. N. General assembly last week which officials here regard as having been less viciously hostile toward the United States than other recent Russian speeches.

Officials at nearby Camp Breckinridge, Ky., said names of the dead will not be released until next of kin have been notified. The plane was reported to be based at Sioux Falls, S. D.

Prospective Bride's Mother Disputes Sheriff's Claim Whistler Is 'Hoax'

PARADIS, La., Sept. 24 (AP)—Mrs. Clifford Cadow today disputed a sheriff's assertion that the whistler who terrified her daughter was a hoax.

The reports of whistled dirges and telephoned threats against Miss Jacquelyn Cadow, 18-year-old bride-to-be, were described by Sheriff Leon Vial as "an inside job" and "a hoax." Vial declined to explain the motive for his reasoning.

Mrs. Cadow said, "If it is an inside job, I don't know how it could be or why anyone would want to do it."

She said that members of her family always were in the same room in the house in this bayou hamlet 25 miles west of New Orleans when the whistling was heard.

MRS. CADOW SAID plans were proceeding for her daughter to marry Herbert Belson, of New Orleans, 26-year-old Louisiana State trooper, at nearby Trafalgar Sunday. A bridal party for Miss Cadow was held at nearby Hahnville last night. The girl married until 9:30 p. m. and then returned to an undisclosed hiding place. Mrs. Cadow said the girl may remain in seclusion until the day of the wedding.

Mrs. Cadow said that once she heard over the telephone: "Your daughter will never marry Herbert. I'll kill her and if I don't get her, I'll get your little boy, Mickey."

Boy Seriously Injured As He Falls Off Truck

An outdoor get-together at the Pine Forge institute ended on a sad note last night when a 15-year-old student was injured seriously after he fell from a moving truck.

The boy was one of ten casualties in traffic accidents on Pottstown area highways over the weekend.

The youth, William Watson, New York city, was one of a group of students riding in the back of a truck on its way to pick up more firewood for a campfire.

As the vehicle, driven by Herbert Shorter, Rochester, N. Y., moved toward the woodpile, Watson and another boy fell off. It is believed the wheels of the vehicle passed over Watson's body, but the other youth was uninjured.

Robert L. Handy, dean of boys at the school, and several older boys, took Watson to Pottstown hospital where he was treated for a possible fracture of the right leg and spine.

The Rev. R. L. Reynolds, headmaster of the school, said it was not known how the accident occurred.

A READING DRIVER and his passenger were treated and discharged at Reading Community hospital last night following an accident on South Reading avenue near Apple street in Boyertown.

The injured, according to Boyertown Chief of Police Henry E. Groff, were Joseph Szepeanski, 29, and Carolyn M. Boullier, 34.

According to Chief Groff, Szepeanski was driving south on South Reading avenue at 7:55 o'clock, when his car struck a parked automobile owned by William S. Gehris, of Gilbertsville, pushing it over the curb. Gehris was visiting friends at the time, and his vehicle was unoccupied.

Szepeanski and his passenger were given first aid at the office of Dr. Edwin Owenby, Boyertown physician, and then taken to Reading Community hospital in the Boyertown community ambulance manned by Jack Kline and Ralph Horn.

The injured driver was treated for a lacerated tongue while the woman was treated for lacerations of the forehead and knees and a possible fracture of the right ankle.

The right front end of the moving car was damaged to the extent of $250, Chief Groff said, while Gehris' automobile was damaged to about $350.

FIVE PHOENIXVILLE residents had minor injuries treated in Memorial hospital Saturday afternoon after the car in which they were riding collided with a truck on Route 83, at the intersection of Route 100. The injured were:

Mrs. Anna E. Weslar, 42, cuts of the nose and brush burns of the right leg and chest.

Paul Weslar, 9, a deep cut of the nose and brush burns of the right hand.

Mrs. Dorothy Stanger, 36, bruises of the left forehead and both arms and knees.

Policy Discussions Scheduled for U. N.; China Main Problem

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—The United Nations assembly heads into its second week with important policy statements to be heard at meetings Monday and Tuesday.

Delegations were expected to wind up the policy debates toward the end of the week and get the main committees working at Lake Success on the principal business items of the agenda.

Nationalist China, fighting to retain its seat in the U. N., Britain and Yugoslavia are headliners on Monday's speaking list. France, Canada and Ecuador are scheduled Tuesday. Egypt revives Arab league countries' attacks on Israel Wednesday.

The broad outlines of assembly debate were sketched on opening day last Tuesday—when the assembly refused to unseat the Chinese Nationalists until a further study is made of Chinese Communist claims to their place—in the United States and Russian policy speeches.

SINCE THEN, policy speakers have leaned heavily toward endorsement of the assembly-strengthening program advanced by Dean Acheson, U. S. secretary of State. These call for U. N. units in every member nation's army, establishing U. N. peace patrols to hurry to every world trouble spot, and holding emergency sessions of the veto-free assembly when the Security Council is paralyzed by Russian veto or obstruction as it was in August and this month.

Russia's principal program is outlawing atom bombs and slashing armaments everywhere by one-third. No support of the Russian position has yet appeared in the tentative speaker's list.

Assembly President Nasrallah Entezam, of Iran, has set Monday evening for the deadline to get on the policy statement list and that may bring out the Ukraine, White Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Flossy Stationery Velloed for Engel

JOLIET, Ill., Sept. 24 (AP)—It was pretty fancy stationery—1000 sheets and envelopes—with big red hearts and printed letterhead reading:

"Signmund S. Engel company, lover of 1001 women, 610 West End ave., New York, 24, N.Y."

One thing wrong was the address. Engel, 76-year-old swindler of wealthy widows, now is doing a two to ten year stretch in the Stateville Penitentiary for sweet talking Mrs. Reseda Corrigan of Chicago out of $8700.

Warden Joseph E. Ragen, frowned on the gift, from Engel's wife, Mrs. Pauline Langton Engel of New York.

Teacher's Plea for Peace Lauded; Stalin Stays Mum

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Sept. 24 (AP)—Premier Stalin hasn't answered the plea-for-peace letter a Missouri school teacher sent him, but hundreds of Americans have written commending her efforts.

It was two weeks ago yesterday that Miss Icie F. Johnson, Central State college journalism teacher, sent the letter, asking Stalin to help "restore a permanent chance for peaceful living for all people."

She also sent a copy to President Truman. To date she has received no acknowledgement from the White House.

Describing herself as "unknown except in my own community," she wrote the premier: "Let me plead with you, and our own President, to sit down together with a determination and faith that you can and will stop this murder of innocent people."

Today Miss Johnson displayed a stack of letters, commenting on her efforts.

"I, TOO, HAVE had the urge to do what you have done, but have lacked the initiative," a Virginia mother wrote. "I feel that if all the women all over the world would do as you have done we would have peace. The majority of women do not want war, and since they gave

Narcotics Chief Slain In Raid on Opium Den

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 24 (AP)—The chief of the U. S. Narcotics bureau for the Minneapolis area was shot dead and one of his agents seriously wounded today in a raid on opium den two blocks from St. Paul police headquarters.

Four men were taken into custody. One of them was wounded critically.

Dead is A. M. Bangs, 50. Shot under the heart was agent Joseph Winberg, 27. Also wounded was John Wong, 49, who lives in the apartment hotel, scene of the raid.

Police and Federal agents gave this story of the raid, which took place about 11:30 a. m. in the Glendale Apartment hotel.

Bangs, Winberg and Virgil Magnuson, another agent, entered a room on the third floor and found four men smoking opium.

While Magnuson remained with three of the men, Bangs and Winberg accompanied Wong to a second floor room to search for further evidence.

Wong broke away, obtained a gun, and a shooting fray developed.

BOOKED ON suspicion of murder and as material witnesses, the three other men gave their names as Jimmy Wong, 43, Mason City, Ia.; Leo Wong, 53, Minneapolis; and Yee Wong, 47, of the Glendale apartments.

Winberg described the shooting in a statement from his hospital bed.

The statement, which relates events after Bangs, Winberg and John Wong left the third floor room, said:

"Well, we went down because he said he had the smoking opium in his room. He went into the closet and brought out his jar of opium and gave it to us. Bangs asked him if that's all he had. He reached back in there and whipped out this gun. We both jumped him and he shot me first and I fell and the three of us were in the closet and wrestling around and he shot Bangs too and I grabbed hold of his gun to keep him from shooting any more and Bangs finally pulled his gun out and he shot Wong."

Another mother wrote: so many of us feel as you do but don't have your kind of courage."

"From almost every state have come such letters as these from the women of America," Miss Johnson said.

The majority of writers have agreed with her, she said, "but didn't do anything about it, just because they were unknown, as I was, and didn't force themselves to make their feelings known to the leaders whom they have elected to high office."

Girl, 15, Admits Thrill Slaying of Aged Rancher

UKIAH, Calif., Sept. 24 (AP)—Sheriff Beverly Broadus said today a 15-year-old girl told him she shot and killed a 70-year-old rancher out of "a desire to kill" and then walked 23 miles to tell about it.

Sheriff Broadus reported the girl, Helen George, told him she shot Samuel C. Walitch at his remote ranch home near Farley, about 43 miles north of here. After listening to the girl's story, Broadus and four deputies went to the place and, using a "wheelbarrow" part "way, brought back the body of the aged rancher, who had been shot behind the left ear.

The killing took place yesterday, Broadus said Helen told him, after she had been left alone at the Robert Harkey ranch where she was living with her grandmother, Mrs. Helen Heitz.

Then, said Helen, she took Harkey's pistol from his holster and walked two miles to the Walitch ranch. As Walitch stood at the stove, his back to her, Helen placed a shell in the automatic and fired at him, felling him instantly, Broadus said the girl related.

She walked down mountain slopes to Willits and told the story to Peter North, a pastor and his wife. They were incredulous at first, but finally called police.

The sheriff said his preliminary talk with the girl, held in the detention home, indicated she may be a mental case. He said Helen told him she wanted to kill her father, Melvin George, of Santa Rosa, Calif., because she doesn't like him.

Sawyer Sees Boost In Business Controls, Seeks Hoarding Halt

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Sawyer said tonight he expects more controls on business to be necessary but he made no prediction when.

He mentioned (1) "perhaps" a halt in manufacture of certain articles using materials needed for the military effort, and (2) "probably" priorities for manufacture of military orders.

Sawyer said that requisitions may be required to take materials away from hoarders seeking to profiteer on the war. Just now, he said, he does not plan to use this power except if necessary in cases of unreasonably high inventories.

Sawyer squelched any hopes that better war news from Korea will ease home front pressure.

At the same time, however, the secretary declared there is no reason why this country cannot turn out all the fighting equipment needed to meet the threats ahead and still "enjoy the highest standard of living in the world."

SAWYER MADE clear that some civilian sacrifices and cuts are expected, but he pointed out that the size of the military demand, when this is fully determined, will govern the impact on civilian life. He added:

"It is perfectly clear that we can take care of the military needs, and we can probably take care of all reasonable civilian needs (for) a high and happy standard of living."

The cabinet member, who has drawn the main assignment in gearing industry for the rearmament job, outlined his views in an interview. The National Production authority, organized within Sawyer's department, has the task of seeing that defense industry gets what it needs and that what is left over is fairly divided for civilian requirements.

"Commenting on 'whether, if and when the fight in Korea is won, we can properly let down in our effort,' Sawyer said:

"My opinion is that we cannot and should not and will not."

He declared America would be stupid to assume that "we can forget the whole thing and go about our normal peace time pursuits regardless of what is going on in the rest of the world."

East Germany Becomes Latest Soviet Satellite

BERLIN, Sept. 24 (AP)—Russian-occupied East Germany was welcomed into the family of Soviet satellite states today. Simultaneously, the East German republic embarked on a big new purge campaign against "saboteurs and Western agents."

The official Soviet newspaper, Tagliche Rundschau, said the East German state had joined "the mighty peace front headed by the Soviet Union." This indicated East Germany had reached full-fledged satellite status.

Ready to Act

J. HOWARD McGRATH

McGrath Primed To Enforce New Red Control Law

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Attorney General McGrath said today he is creating a special unit to "vigorously enforce" the controversial anti-Communist legislation enacted yesterday by Congress.

McGrath said in a statement that he is asking the Budget bureau to provide more money for sufficient help to staff the new branch. He did not state the number needed but other department sources predicted it would be "considerable," perhaps hundreds.

The unit will be a part of the criminal division of the department, handling the new control legislation which President Truman denounced in a veto message as weakening existing security measures and hampering the FBI.

Mr. Truman said its registration provisions were unworkable and would "waste immense amounts of time and energy" of the Justice department. McGrath also had assailed parts of the bill, but he said today his department was "taking immediate steps" to enforce it.

Unofficially, members of the department viewed their new job of enforcement with misgivings.

Among the major provisions of the act are those (1) requiring registration of the Communist party and its individual members, and of Red fronts as organizations but not as individuals, and (2) calling for wartime internment of Communists.

Two Are Swept Overboard As Navy Vessel Is Flooded

SEATTLE, Sept. 24 (AP)—Giant seas swept two crewmen over the side of the destroyer escort USS Gilligan today at the entrance to Coos Bay, Ore., harbor, 13th Naval district headquarters reported.

Three other sailors were injured.

The Navy said the reserve training ship was flooded in two compartments, lost the starboard propeller and had the rudder and a shaft badly damaged—but reached port under her own power.

A Coast Guard surf boat from the Coos Bay station bored through 20 to 30 foot waves in an unsuccessful attempt to locate the missing men. Coast Guard jeeps continued to patrol beaches in the area for their bodies.

The victim's names were withheld for notification of kin.

Just how the ship was damaged was not known immediately at Naval headquarters here. It was first reported the accident, shortly before noon (PST), occurred in heavy fog. But the Gilligan's skipper, Lt. J. S. Fones, sent later word that visibility was good.

THE NAVY SAID the Gilligan is believed to have either hit the harbor bar and then quickly freed herself or to have struck a buoy and broached in the towering seas.

Initial reports said the ship was holed, but even that was in doubt until an inspection could be completed at the Gilligan's berth on the north bend waterfront inside the bay.

Lt. Fones reported a steel cable was found twisted around the propeller shaft, lending credence to the theory the ship hit a buoy.

Two of the injured men were members of the regular crew. Their condition was listed as serious but the extent of their injuries was not known. The third man, one of the 65-odd Naval reservists aboard, was cut about the head.

PALENCIA, Spain, Sept. 24 (AP)—A bullfighter was "gored" and seriously wounded today by a bull that he had just killed.

The odd accident occurred when Alberto Rojas, of Caracas, Venezuela, fell on the dead animal's horns as he was being carried from the bull ring on the shoulders of admirers. He was trying to avoid mules that were dragging away the bull.

The bullfighter, known as Moronito, was taken to Madrid by ambulance.

Shelton Mobster Kin Murdered in Ambush

HERRIN, Ill., Sept. 24 (AP)—Roy Arnes, 32, brother of a slain member of the notorious Shelton gang, was shot to death from ambush today.

Bullets from a high powered rifle and buckshot from a shotgun hit Arnes after he and a companion left a tavern and climbed into their automobile.

The slaying was similar to the shooting of the Shelton brothers—Carl, Bernie and Roy—in the last three years.

Roy Arnes was a brother of Monroe (Blackie) Arnes, killed in 1944 by bullets in a tavern duel south of Herrin. Blackie was a Shelton gangster. His slayer, Thomas Castle, owner of the tavern, also was killed.

BY COINCIDENCE, the same man, James Scott, 37, was with each of the Arnes brothers when they died. Scott escaped the bullets in 1944 as he did today.

Roy's shooting took place outside the Green Lantern tavern, just north of Herrin, in Williamson county in Southern Illinois.

Family's Sacredness Stressed by Speaker At Parsonage Event

The sacredness of the family and the home were stressed by the Rev. Henry M. Kistler, president of the Norristown conference of the Evangelical Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania, yesterday morning at a service dedicating the new parsonage of St. Paul's, Lutheran church, Sassamansville.

"The family and the home are God's marks upon mankind," the Rev. Kistler declared. "It is through the family and the home that the God of Israel chose to reveal His plan of salvation."

"He chose not just the man Noah; not just the man Abraham; not just the man Jacob; but their families as the earthly vessels for carrying on His blessed inheritance."

The Rev. Kistler, who is pastor of St. Mark's, Lutheran church, Pennsburg, spoke at the 10:30 o'clock service in St. Paul's church. An estimated 250 persons attended the dedication.

"God has made sacred all homes," he went on to say. "And, when a Christian congregation sees fit to set aside in consecration a home for the exclusive use of its pastor—that act is a mark of spiritual vigor and growth."

TWO CHOIRS, from St. Paul's church and St. Luke's Lutheran church, Gilbertsville, provided music for the service. They were directed by Gordon Lechner, organist and choir director.

The Rev. William L. Shaud, pastor of the Sassamansville-Gilbertsville Lutheran parish, had charge of the service.

After the benediction ending the service, the two ministers preceded the choir and the congregation to the new eight-room parsonage for the act of consecration. Keys for the house were handed to the Rev. Shaud by Leroy Herb, chairman of the building committee, and the house was opened for public inspection.

IT WAS ESTIMATED that 225 persons remained after the service for a luncheon served in the pavilion behind the church.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a "Preaching in Song" service was given by the Rev. John B. Frantz, pastor of Trinity Reformed church. He selected as his theme, "God's Way with a Man," giving vocal selections interspersed with appropriate commentary.

The Rev. Frantz was accompanied by Mrs. Norman G. Lepper, minister of music at Trinity Reformed church. The prelude and postlude were played by Thelma Reitauer, an organ student and a member of St. Paul's congregation.

The Rev. and Mrs. Shaud and their son, Billy, plan to move into the new parsonage today.

brought larger crowds to services, and pastors could not say whether the extra hour's sleep brought more worshippers to church.

At St. Aloysius Catholic church, the pastor, the Rev. William M. Begley, said he noticed that the 9 a. m. mass, to which many children are brought, was more crowded than usual.

And a few youngsters showed up early for Sunday school at the Trinity Reformed church.

THE EXTRA HOUR didn't do local taprooms any good. They had to close at midnight Saturday, two hours before Daylight Saving Time ended.

Clubs were permitted by law to remain open until 3 a. m., yesterday. Club manager said, however, that they passed up the opportunity to push the clocks back at 2 a. m. and enjoy an extra hour of bar business.

It also would have meant an extra hour of work, they said, so patrons had no more time to enjoy themselves than they would on any other night.

Malone concedes the bill will pass if it comes to a vote. It already has House approval. Law enforcement officers have asked for the bill. Malone condemns it as an invasion of States' rights. Nevada collects large revenues from licensed gambling.

northeast of Poun and 75 southwest of Osan.

To the east 30 air miles, South Korean Eighth division forces were back in Andong on the Nakdong river in the middle of the northern front. U. S. First corps spokesman reported today.

The spokesman also told Associated Press correspondent William Jordan that the Republican Third division had shoved back into the outskirts of Yongdok, shell-shattered town that was along the east coast anchor of the U. N. beachhead.

A third prong of the fast-traveling First Cavalry division speared south from Sanju yesterday to the northern outskirts of Kunchon, junction on the main Seoul-Pusan highway and railroad lines.

BUT FIRST into the town, the First corps spokesman reported, were men of the veteran U. S. 24th Infantry division. Patrols of their division which was pushed down this very corridor in the early days of the war came back today. They entered the town over the same route—from the southeast.

Inside Kunchon, they ran into tough resistance.

The Korean war thus reached a new high of movement and action as in entered its fifteenth week.

The North Korean Communists invaded the South Korean republic Sunday, June 25. They quickly overran all but a small corner of South-east Korea.

Today, after a long, heartbreaking withdrawal and defense of that foothold, the United Nations forces that came to the Korean republic's rescue were on the offensive on all fronts.

EDWARD MALONEY, Devon State policeman, said Mrs. Weslar was driving from Phoenixville along Route 83, about to turn right onto Route 100, at 5:15 p. m.

A truck, driven by Reginald L. Binkerton, of Malvern, coming south on Route 100, turned left into Route 83, and the two vehicles collided.

Damage to Mrs. Weslar's 1939 sedan was estimated at $200, and to Binkerton's 1947 truck at $85.

The five injured persons were discharged from the hospital after they were treated in the dispensary.

A THREE-CAR collision on the Schuylkill river bridge in Birdsboro resulted in injuries to a Birdsboro man and a 15-year-old Douglassville RD 1 boy Saturday afternoon.

Douglas Haas, 22, of 142 South Walnut street, Birdsboro, was admitted to Reading hospital with cuts of the knees, right eyelid, chest and forehead.

The Douglassville RD 1 youth, Harry McMullen, was admitted with cuts of the knees and head and chest injuries.

West Reading State police said the injured persons were passengers in a car driven by George Harp, 18, of Douglassville RD 1.

Drivers of the two other cars were Robert Derr, 28, of Pottstown RD 4, and Richard Gordon, 22, of Birdsboro.

Police said that Gordon had stepped on the bridge behind another car, waiting for Derr to turn left.

Harp, coming north on the bridge, swerved left and passed the two cars, scraping the left rear fender of Gordon's and then colliding with Derr's.

West Reading State Trooper John Divine investigated.

TWO TRUCKS were damaged in a collision at Feast avenue and Prospect street Saturday morning but neither driver was hurt.

Jacob C. Fegely Jr., 23, of 808 High street, was driving a 1950 pickup truck of the J. Fegely and Son company west on Prospect street when it collided with a truck of the Carver Dairy company, of Boyertown.

The milk truck driver, it was reported, was Leroy B. Beyer Jr., of Pottstown. He was driving north on Feast avenue.

Fegely's truck had the radiator smashed, and the right front fender, right door and right front side damaged. The front end of the dairy truck also was damaged badly and several empty milk bottles were broken.

No report was made by Pottstown police.

and his hair was virtually all burned off.

Bob Hamilton, Evansville pro golfer, said Alexander told him he had "hitched" a ride in the military plane, intending to go as far as Louisville. He had intended to go on to North Carolina.

Police identified the dead as an Air Force colonel and two lieutenants.

However, the plane was identified as a Civil Air patrol plane, believed to be out of Dayton, Ohio.

The crash, in front of the International Harvester company, planted up traffic on the main line of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad.

The plane crashed on the tracks, beside U. S. 41, about a quarter-mile southwest of the Municipal airport here.

SOVIET SEEN —

ported that Russian diplomats are now saying to the people they meet that the whole Korean affair is of no importance and should be settled soon in the interest of world peace.

Diplomacy and propaganda can always be used to cover up the nation's real intentions. Theoretically at least the Soviets could send their own or perhaps Chinese Red armies pouring into South Korea to join the fighting. Neither military nor diplomatic authorities here believe that will happen.

On the contrary, Washington's impulse now, in view of the success of the American offensives in Korea, is to think of international political and even domestic problems ahead in terms of an ending of the Korean crisis.

The overall question which this raises is whether the United States and Allied nations can maintain the momentum of defense preparations which were set in motion by the Communist aggression in Korea.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN and Secretary of State Acheson as well as Defense department officials are convinced that the drive to produce more arms, to consolidate military forces of Western Europe, and to strengthen other areas against Communism must be carried forward at maximum speed.

Acheson, for example, tells associates that the point of vital importance which has come out of the Korean episode is that the Russians were willing once to risk global war for a specific objective and we must always act on the assumption that they would be willing to do so again.

Nevertheless officials here recognize that there is a difference between the long range planning which they try to do and the kind of popular and political support which translates their plans into action. Enthusiasm both in this country and abroad for rearmament is regarded chiefly as a response to the dangers which the Communist attack in Korea suddenly dramatized.

If this crisis is soon ended — with the Russians squeezing every ounce of "peace propaganda" out of such a development — the sense of relief which will come with the end of the fighting may change the political atmosphere in this country and abroad to such an extent that government officials may have difficulty continuing their campaign for full speed defense preparations.

gasoline supply to last 17 hours. Normally the flight from Goose Bay to Labrador would take 12 hours.

The RCAF planes resumed the search in favorable weather this morning and the Lancaster based at Greenwood, N. S., was successful in finding the missing U. S. air giant.

TOMORROW A HELICOPTER will make the tricky flight to pick up the men and transfer them to the shore of a large lake nearby. There a Canso amphibian will take them aboard and fly them to Goose Bay.

Para-rescue crews—trained rescuers who parachute to survivors—were carried by two of the RCAF's search planes today but were not needed. All told 15 RCAF aircraft joined in today's hunt.

It was presumed that evacuation of the survivors could be completed tomorrow unless unfavorable weather or other obstacles crop up.

Relatives of the men aboard the plane already had been notified that the 16 were missing.

One aboard was First Lt. Basil J. Williams Jr. His sister, at North Hollywood, Calif., exclaimed "Oh thank God!" when told that the men had been found. It was welcome news, too, for the lieutenant's wife. She is in Tucson, Ariz., momentarily expecting the birth of a child.

The Miracle of Korea

EVEN skeptics cannot but be impressed by the speed with which supply lines to the Korean beachhead have been built up.

From a standing start less than two months ago a sizable army has been moved across 6000 miles of ocean and sent into combat.

It is impossible for laymen to appreciate fully the magnitude of such a task.

A single U. S. infantry division, for example, needs a staggering 17,000 tons of equipment—weapons, trucks, fuel and food—to get it started in combat.

From then on, if it is fighting a delaying action such as the war in Korea has been so far, it needs an extra 436 tons of equipment a day, including medicine and replacement parts to keep it going.

When it goes on the offensive, its daily needs jump to 580 tons.

Life magazine has made an illustrated feature of this great undertaking. It shows a map of the Pacific Ocean with a worldwide network of supply lines—planes and ships—converging on a tiny white dot on the shores of Korea. This dot is our beachhead.

Life then described the movement over these supply lines during a 40-day period.
The Military Air Transport service, flying 236 planes, delivered 15,000 passengers and 3000 tons of cargo. Each round trip took from 7 to 12 hours. Turn around time for the planes in Japan and the United States was 12 hours.

Simultaneously, the Navy-run Military Sea
Transportation service, in three hundred ships
—transporters, tankers, and cargo vessels—delivered more than 50,000 men and 500,000 tons of cargo. Round trip for one of these ships from Pacific coast ports required 40 to 75 days.

In the words of Life: "To accomplish all this within nine weeks, U. S. logistics experts have had to improvise a major miracle."

The fact that a miracle of transportation and supply is now being accomplished does not excuse the tragic miscalculations in top management of the American defense program.

Rather, it is another magnificent demonstration of the vast reservoir of resourcefulness and stamina so characteristic of this country.

Very likely the present effort will go down in history just as Life described it—a major miracle.

Credit for achieving it must go to the people who have taken part in it: the pilots of the planes, the captains of the ships, workers and managements in the oil fields and factories and mines, the hard-bitten Marines, the Navy Air Force and the Army.

The performance of these people has impressed the world and is doing more for the cause of freedom and Western Civilization than most of us realize.

If anyone can, they will make the United Nations a workable organization.

Beer or Pop, It's Warm

BEER for G.I.s fighting in Korea has foamed into a mild newspaper controversy. Since beer is involved, the situation might be called confusion in a can rather than tempest in a teapot, but the general idea is similar.

Gen. MacArthur ordered daily free beer dropped in the combat areas. It is not part of the regular ration, but is paid for by post-exchange profits. This would appear to spare the consciences of taxpayers who do not approve of beer.

But various dry organizations have protested that no Army officer has any business issuing alcoholic drink, free or otherwise, to soldiers. The argument that much of the water in Korea is unsafe to drink is met with derision. There are soft drinks, it is pointed out, not to mention coffee and tea.

A soldier may like beer or he may prefer soda pop. If he's tired and thirsty he'll probably drink both. But by home standards
he is out of luck with either.

We doubt if there is ice at the front and a warm beer and a warm pop sound equally unexciting.

All the mistakes they made we should

'Mightiest Force in World'

To the Editor: Of all the words that fell from the lips of speakers at the farewell for the draftees Tuesday morning, those that were said in prayer were the most important.

So many things can be said about the value of prayer, but a quotation from Dr.

Frank C. Laubach's book "Prayer—the Mightiest Force in the World" speaks the best of what's on my mind:

"Prayer is likely to be undervalued by all but wise people because it is so silent and so secret. We are often deceived into thinking noise is more important than silence. War sounds far more important than the noiseless growing of a crop of wheat, yet the silent wheat feeds millions,
while war destroys them."

"Nobody but God knows how often prayers have changed the course of history. Many a man who prayed received no credit excepting in Heaven."

"We are tempted to turn from prayer to something noisy like speeches or guns because our motives are mixed. We are interested in the making of a better world,
of course, but we also want people to give us credit for what we have done."

Pistols Illegal; Why Not Knives?

To the Editor: A short time ago I read in The Mercury that a Phoenixville man was arrested in Pottstown for illegal possession of a pistol. A similar arrest of a man was made after he fired some wild shots from a parked automobile.

A pistol is not easy to buy at any store.
There is a lot of red tape and papers to sign.

How these men came into possession of pistols may be a question. They may have obtained them legally. And they didn't kill anyone with them.

Now, we can read of as many or more incidents where persons were stabbed or slashed with a knife. For instance, there was the man who cut the couple on a road in Chester county not long ago. Where this man got a bolo knife was none of the law's business.

Anyone can buy the most vicious knives
at any hardware store or sporting goods shop. Any size, from a pen knife to a dagger to any and all who want them.

For my part, I had much rather face
an adversary with a gun at close range than a knife.

Cart Before the Horse

To the Editor: What seems queer to me is this: Why did the Pottstown school board pass a resolution to retire professional workers at 62 and then ask the State for a legal opinion on it?

That is really putting the cart before the horse.

Oh, well, maybe that is the way you do things in Pottstown. Each to his own way.

Thanks for Resurfacing

To the Editor: I would like to thank the State for putting the new surfacing on Manatany street. If any street had been neglected, it was this one. Sort of like riding a roller coaster to drive over it.

I don't believe any side street in Pottstown carries any more traffic than Mana-tany, yet it is repaired no oftener than many of the other less traveled streets.

The Voice of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

One Gal's Opinion

I THINK IF I were President of the United States (an unlikely possibility) I would every now and then disguise myself with a fake mustache and make the rounds of a few New York movie houses at a discreet time, just to keep in touch with my audience reaction.

It is an interesting and educational practice. For instance, right after the 1948 elections, President Truman would have discovered he was drawing applause even in such a restrained neighborhood theatre as the Plaza, which is inclined to be a hotbed of Republican dowagers, heavily pearled and just over from a hot butter-scotch pecan sundae at Schrafft's.

But this week, at the more modest Criterion, a shot of the Prexy accepting a United Nations flag is drawing hisses.
Mild ones, but hisses just the same.

BY THE WAY, if you ever thought
Jean Harlow beautiful or glamorous, don't go to see "Platinum Blonde."
Also stay away if you revere Frank Capra; he directed it.

REMEMBER—IT was just a short time ago—when all the Broadway pessimists were moaning that the Main Stem was finished as an entertainment street?
Television, they predicted, would send the last remnants of show business scurrying to Hollywood, for Hollywood was full of cameras and technicians and talent, and was the obvious spot for video to make its headquarters.

Thanks to the hardworking television pioneers on this Coast, and the powerful California moguls, who believed that if you ignored TV it would go away, the tragedy didn't happen. Times Square is not a deserted village.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

MORT H., 42, was at the speaker's table when I recently addressed the Milwaukee Executives club in defense of our
"free enterprise" system.

"Dr. Crane, I'd like to ask you a hypothetical question," he began.

"Let's assume that you were nominated
on the Republican ticket for president.
Whom would you then prefer to have as your vice presidential running mate?"

"Well, that catches me quite unprepared." I replied, "but if you'd give me somebody like Clark Gable, I'd be willing to take on all comers."

AND I WASN'T joking. For the winning of an election is largely a sales job.

You business leaders don't send out the corporation letter for your firm when you want to sell your goods to the actual customer, do you?

By the same token, it is high time we realized that the winning of an election requires men who can sway people and persuade them easily.

This involves picking candidates who are already nationally popular in their own right, so you don't need to spend millions of dollars of campaign funds to familiarize the public with their names.

Then, when these competent, as well as popular political "salesmen" I have attracted the customers to the precinct ballot boxes,
and have won the election, they can later pick statesmen, farm experts and other skilled political scientists as Cabinet Members.

Each Cabinet member should really act as an executive vice-president whose job would be to reduce costs and the number of employees in his department, yet produce equally good service therein.

"But what would Clark Gable know about business?" somebody might inquire.

"What did Truman know about it, either?" I could reply.

At least, Clark Gable worked his way up from the life of a farm boy to that of America's leading movie actor.

For it requires brains and good judgment and perseverance and business acumen to get to the top in Hollywood and then hold on to a sizeable fortune.

Many Hollywood characters are portrayed as dissolute, immoral and without common sense, or "horse sense" as I prefer to label it.

But not Clark Gable, or Bing Crosby, or Jimmy Stewart, or many other eminent actors and actresses.

Though I have never met Mr. Gable, personally, I can think of nobody whom
I'd rather have on the ticks with me.
For Clark Gable has also worked in the rubber plants and oil fields, so he understands labor problems better than many professional politicians who are often puppets of corrupt city machines.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Mercury, enclosing a long S stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs
when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Women at War!... Husband's Compliments...

INSPIRATION COLUMN
(From "Your Life")

★ WOMEN DON'T RESPECT WOMEN—
According to up-to-date research on the subject, the battle of the sexes rages more violently between woman and woman than between woman and man. Women are unconsciously suspicious of women. They have a relatively low opinion of their own sex. They don't like women very well, trust them even less, and thus "cattiness" is a common kind of cold war between females with no exact counterpart in the male.

These are harsh judgments, and as the isolated opinions of crabbed misogynists would be valueless. However, such conclusions are based in large part on questionnaires answered by women and on other evidence of women's opinions readily demonstrated in everyday life.

For example, it's well known that women's clubs prefer men speakers to women, and that women tend to dislike working for women bosses. Even more indicative, although as voters women are at least as numerous as men, they seem to show no desire to gang up as a sex and elect woman mayors, governors—or Presidents!

Maybe you disagree with these opinions. Some women still respect some women, and many form enduring friendships.
In any case, no one will deny that woman is infinitely more capable of controlling her sisters than is any mere man.—Donald
G. Cooley.

COMPROMISE — They were on the subject of husbands and their lacks, both justified and unjustified.

Someone had just said, "Now you couldn't blame Vera's husband if he never paid her a compliment on her looks—she certainly doesn't have any clothes sense at all!" when suddenly Vera was in the room.

She broke the telltale silence with a chuckle.

"My husband wouldn't know the difference if I wore a burlap sack," she admitted, unabashed. "But he never fails to notice whether I'm tired or depressed or particularly happy about something."

Her glance slid over the group of fashionably dressed women.

"Now, honestly, girls," she murmured in a confiding tone, "wouldn't you be willing to settle for that?" — Ruth E.
Renkel.

★ DANGEROUS EMOTIONS — Laboratory tests prove that every time a person has an emotional feeling a certain amount of energy is discharged. When this feeling is denied its normal expression, the energy is still there and seeks another outlet—often in the form of disabling symptoms which make the patient believe he is physically ill. One of the main jobs of the psychiatrist is to re-educate the patient to express his feelings so that he can rid himself of the pent-up energy which is making him sick.

Most nervous people are afraid to speak out. They are afraid of doing or saying the wrong thing lest they be judged unacceptable socially.

Society itself has placed these restrictions on modern man, and in so doing has made him neurotic.

Society demands that men and women say one thing with their mouths while they feel another with their emotions.

It is time that the burden of guilt for emotional ills be placed where it belongs
—on society's shoulders.

It is time, too, that the nervous person realize that only by expressing his feelings will he ever be able to break the emotional chains that are binding him.
—David Harold Fink, M.D.

NATURAL REACTION — If there is anything I dislike, it is being told by some misguided "friend" what somebody else said about me in a criticizing way. Let me stay ignorant, please. What I don't know won't hurt me.

If Jane forces the issue, however, and tells me Betty says I am horrid, I get mad at Jane and consider Betty a pretty foxy character. Imagine her seeing through me!
I shall have to be extra kind and polite to her—to show her I'm nice. Jane the tattletale, I can ignore. — Rebecca Burris.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

BRUCellosis or undulant fever is one of the diseases human beings contract from animals. The germ which causes it, brucella abortus, may be passed on from animals to man by direct contact with infected cattle, sheep, or swine,
or through the drinking of unpasteurized
or improperly pasteurized milk.

Because of the variety of symptoms produced by brucellosis, it is difficult to make a diagnosis on the basis of symptoms alone. Certitude is possible only through finding the germs which cause
the condition in the blood of the patient.
This is particularly true of the chronic or long-continued form of the disease. In making these cultures, samples of blood should be taken for seven consecutive days.

It is interesting, also, that the blood cultures made on blood from a vein are often negative, while the blood from an artery is positive. Another test used in diagnosing brucellosis is the agglutination test. This is done by determining whether the blood serum will cause a growth of the germs to form in clumps. A positive test does not necessarily mean active infection, but it means that the person has had the infection at one time or another.

A skin test for brucellosis is also available. This is done by injecting into the skin what is known as brucella antigen. A red area develops if the test is positive.
A negative test means that brucellosis is not present. A positive test only means that the patient may have had a brucellosis infection at some time in his life.
Brucellosis causes such symptoms as fever, loss of weight and strength, pains in the muscles and joints, depression, irritability, headache, and similar symptoms.
The disorder often is mistaken for influenza, or for what is called a psychoneu-rosis or nervous breakdown.

In the chronic form of this disease, a preparation containing manganese has been found beneficial.

Hollywood

(Hollywood Commentator

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24—Lawrence Tierney attracting all sorts of attention at the fights by pouring the contents of a bottle on the head of a friend (?) The beverage was coca-cola, as Larry continues
efforts to prove he's "best of the bad men."

Exhausted press
agent called this ayem. First question—did I want to play tennis?
And he was calling from Mont-

low, touring with Jose Ferrer on
"The Men," claims
Jose insists on tennis every morning

if the agent can't find

he's gotta get up himself! Anyway, it's worth a story.

Died, bye, blues.
DID YOU EVER notice how Dean
Acheson's voice doesn't match his face?

ONE OF THE great unsung artists of Hollywood is ne fellow (or corporation, for all I know) who dyes
the water that Esther Williams swims
in. There just never was such a color, not even in the tropics, but it's beautiful.

JAN MURRAY exhibited terrible taste
at Roosevelt Raceway Sunday night
when he told a crowd of 17,000, including high school children. Possibly night club habitués, fortified by alcohol, expect this sort of thing from Mr. Murray when he appears in his repertoire, if he digs deep enough.

I LOVE THE way Mindy Carson sings
"Bashful."

HELEN HAYES vetoed going on the road in "The Wisteria Trees"

is quite ill.

AND WHO is it that Linda Darnell is seeing on her weekends in New York? (Plain to see our east-

Pat O'Brien makes a Gotham
TV appearance with Ed Sullivan and a guy named Berle, suddenly discussing star role in

McRuin." On Broadway, Reuben Manouliou is expected to replace Don Porter as director.

No truth to the rumor that 20th-Century Fox's "Flying Tea-kettle" gets around on a flying saucer!

AGNES MOOREHEAD joins Charles Laughton, Charles Boyer and Sir Cedric Hardwicke, to make it "The Drama Quartet." Paul Gregory is taking them on tour in "Don Juan in Hell," adapted from a portion of "Man And Superman" by George Bernard somebody-or-other.
The tour starts in February, and Gregory tells me he could book them solidly for the next four years if he wanted too!

leading ads—"The Breaking Point"

novel any more than "Under Capri-corn" and "Stromboli!"

Something like ten or eleven years ago Richard Greene rescued a youngster from the ocean off Santa Monica. The kid, Don Arthur, contacted Greene again in the other day—first time since—
to thank him once more.
Arthur's now a law student at the U. of Southern California.
Cyril Endfield's job on "Sound of Fury" is so good he's had three pictures offered him already!

APPLE BUTTER DAY—The Schwenkfelder church at Palm celebrated Apple Butter Day as a part of its 191st anniversary event. This follows a custom of their forebears who landed in Philadelphia 191 years ago to escape religious persecution in Europe. Apple butter, bread and butter are placed on long oaken tables
and eaten by all present.

NEW CHURCH—The new St. Peter's Polish Catholic church on South street, near Rev. Peter J. Klekotka. The building
cost $30,000 and is of brick construction.
Knights of St. Casimir, of Reading, formed a court of honor for visiting priests.

MUST HALT POLLUTION—Borough

loan of $25,000 for completion of the sewer system has been approved. The State warned that the State attorney general pollution continues.

FIRE HAZARDS—Acting on orders pounds, but he climbed the roof of his porch for a picture, then dove

tumbled out of airships, fell off recognized him when he made a

Athens, Greece. He was a good soldier and served as a hoplite (heavily armed infantry soldier)
with a record for prowess and endurance. He took no part in polfice would mean compromise with his principles. He was a true patriot, but felt he could best prove it by criticizing Athens' false theo-

He was accused of "impiety" bein the numerous gods and goddesses of the prevailing Greek mythology.

"I GET WONDERFUL RELIEF NOW FROM HOT FLUSHES"

And Urge Every Woman 38 to 52 Years Old to Read This!

"I had heard so many stories about the functional middle-age period peculiar to women—I hoped I'd escape such symptoms. But I didn't. I found myself terribly embarrassed by hot flushes—I suffered such restless nights, and I could sense myself getting irritable and cranky—due to this cause.

"My druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. I can understand now why he called it 'the woman's friend.' Pinkham's Compound gives me amazing relief. I find if I take it regularly—don't miss a day—it helps build up resistance against such middle-age distress."

P. S. Pinkham's Compound is very tasty in a little fruit juice. Or you may prefer Lydia E. Pinkham's TABLETS with added iron. Handy to carry in your purse.

Silks and Satins Find Way Down Aisle As Brides Go Rustling Into Matrimony

The rustle of silks and satins was audible again last week in the workrooms of dressmakers all over town, as these women prepared to outfit many of the weekend's brides. There was plenty of cutting and pinning and fitting going on until, after labor's end, the bride-to-be was ready for a radiant walk down the aisle.

Schott-Ryzner
Attired in a fashionable gown of satin, Miss Mary Ryzner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Ryzner, of 1149 South street, exchanged vows with Mr. Richard H. Schott, son of Mr. Harvey Schott, of Boyertown, yesterday in St. Peter's Catholic church.

Gladioli and palms decorated the church as the Rev. John Naja, rector, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride's gown was styled along the form fitted bodice line, which was of lace, with a lace Peter Pan collar, long sleeves ending in points at the wrists and a lace bustle. The skirt was full and ended in a long train. She wore a fingertip veil which cascaded down a lace cap trimmed with seed pearls and carried a bouquet of gardenias and white roses centered with an orchid corsage.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Eugene H. Ryzner.

Miss Mary Ann Cepiel was the maid of honor. She wore a pink satin gown with a fitted bodice and a full skirt with an appliqued floral design, which billowed over hip paniers and a cape of pleated illusion. Her headpiece was a crown of yellow roses and she carried a heart shaped bouquet of gardenias, stephanotis and orchids.

THE BRIDESMAIDS were Miss Pearl Suloman, Miss Katherine Onick, and Miss Theresa Bodolus. They wore gowns of blue, green and rose respectively, styled with fitted strapless bodices and full skirts with double fishtail backs, and capes of pleated illusion, and matching mitts. Halos of yellow roses formed their headpieces and they carried bouquets of matching flowers.

The ring bearer was Robert Ryzner, nephew of the bride.

Mr. Michael Kovach served as best man and the ushers were Mr. Edward Kovach, Mr. William Koss Jr. and Mr. Richard Campbell.

Mother of the bride was attired in a blue dress with black accessories and wore a corsage of red roses. St. Peter's hall was the scene of the reception which followed the ceremony.

When the couple left for a honeymoon trip to the Pocono Mountains the bride wore a Navy blue suit with pink accessories and an orchid corsage.

The couple will reside at the home of the bride's parents.

Guests who attended the wedding came from Bayonne, N. J., Brooklyn, N. Y., Boyertown and Conshohocken.

Mayer-Hill
Palms, gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the altar of the Emmanuel Lutheran church, Saturday, when Miss Joyce E. Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Hill, of 520 North Charlotte street, became the bride of Mr. George L. Mayer, of 455 North Charlotte street.

The Rev. Dr. Luther A. Krouse, pastor, officiated.

Mr. Eugene Perkins, of Philadelphia, cousin of the bride, presented selections on the organ, and the soloist was Mr. Edward Yerger, of Ashland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of nylon sheer over taffeta with an illusion neckline framed with a bertha of lace, full length sleeves ending in points at the wrists, a basque fitted bodice, and a billowing skirt with two ruffles of nylon and lace which ended in long cathedral train. She wore a fingertip veil which fell from a satin tiara of bugle beads and seed pearls. Her bouquet consisted of white chrysanthemums and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. J. Edwin Hartman, of Trappe, was the matron of honor in a taffeta gown of Periwinkle blue with an illusion neckline outlined with a double scalloped bertha, fitted bodice and pleated skirt. She wore matching mitts and a large picture hat, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of assorted mums and pink carnations.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Pansy and Daisy Goodyear, twin sisters, and nieces of the bridegroom. They wore gowns of frost rose and water green, respectively, styled the same as the honor attendant's and also carried the same kind of bouquets.

MARSHA SAILER was a flower girl in a yellow taffeta gown with a hooped skirt. She wore a crown of yellow mums and carried a basket of mixed flowers.

Mr. J. Edwin Hartman, of Trappe.

Advice to the Lovelorn
Repetition of an Unhappy Childhood

NO MOTHER who had an unhappy childhood herself wants to see her own child go through the same sort of unhappiness. Yet sometimes, hard as she may try, she is not always able to prevent it. Then, it seems to me, what she must do is to give her child a philosophy that will keep her thinking and her emotions on an even keel, so that she will not grow up with them warped and distorted.

A mother who is facing this problem writes me as follows:

"My father deserted my mother and became involved with another woman. My three sisters and I, as children, heard people whispering that he was no good; that he didn't live up to his marriage vows, etc. We were so ashamed of him, especially because my mother was a wonderful woman.

"My sisters never married, and I believe it was because of the disillusion my father's actions caused in them at an early and impressionable age. I know I felt that way when I reached maturity, but the man who became my husband won me over with his kindness and patience."

Now, this wife goes on to say, history is repeating itself in her own family. Her own husband has deserted her, and, as she puts it, "is running around with another woman." Not only that, but before he left, this man — whose "kindness and patience" had prevailed upon a disillusioned girl to take a chance at trusting him — had taunted her about her father, reminding her that he was "no good," hadn't supported her mother, and in general had been a "bum."

"I am fearful that my husband's behavior will make my eight-year-old daughter feel that all men are unfaithful and not to be trusted, as my father's conduct did to my sisters and me," her letter concludes.

HERE IS WHERE I think it depends almost entirely on the mother's own wisdom whether or not the child does grow up with such an attitude. It not only depends on her skill in handling the child, but also upon the attitude she herself takes toward her unfaithful husband.

As her own early unhappiness and disillusion come to the surface again now, and are accentuated by her husband's behavior, it is going to be very difficult for her to avoid passing on this feeling to her daughter. A child's philosophy of life is developed not nearly so much through the things that happen to it, as through the emotions its parents create in it by those experiences.

Hence, the mother's responsibility here is to take such an adult attitude toward the child's father that she will inevitably absorb and exhibit the same feeling.

Naturally, this woman will not be able to suppress all her own hurt. But she can, if she exerts sufficient self-control, avoid showing bitterness and resentment. She can tell the child that, unhappily, not all people are loyal to the man or woman they married, and that, unfortunately, her own father is one of the unreliable ones. She can assure her, however, that there are far more marriages in which husband and wife are faithful to each other than the other kind, and so preserve her trust in marriage itself.

Apart from this problem, this wife wants to know how she can make her husband "see the error of his ways" and return home, ready to live a normal married life again.

"I love my husband and would be willing to forgive and be reconciled," she says, "but he is very bitter. He is very stubborn and difficult to reason with."

Curiously, she then adds a postscript, in which may possibly lie the key to at least part of the whole trouble. "He has felt," she writes, "that I place the child before him."

It would not be at all unlikely that she has actually done this. Her instinctive distrust of men may have caused her to concentrate on the child, rather than on her husband, feeling that the child would not disappoint her, even though the husband should.

If she can think all this over, and decide whether or not her marriage may have gone wrong on this point, and if so, resolve to correct it, she may yet be able to straighten out her tangled situation and build a better future.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

FRANK PACE, Secretary of the Army, tells of his first day in the field with a regiment of tough veterans. A sergeant watched him dig a foxhole without saying a word. "How'm I doing?" demanded Pace finally. The sergeant allowed, "A couple of live shells would improve your technique."

A private with an open camera watched Pace, too, but made no move to snap his picture. "Camera broken?" asked Pace. "Not at all," answered the private. "You see, Mr. Secretary, that's my foxhole and I want to get your picture when you've finished digging it."

An apprehensive government employee in the Pentagon Building said, "I'm convinced that if there's another war the enemy will drop its first atomic bomb right here on the Pentagon." "What?" replied her friend at the mail desk, "and destroy all this confusion?"

Civic League Open To All, Group Told; Scholarship Planned

Membership in the Pottstown Civic League is open to any "civic-minded person, regardless of race, creed, color, national origin or religious affiliation." It was announced yesterday after the league's semi-monthly meeting.

The announcement was made to offset an erroneous impression that the organization, principally concerned with assisting the advancement of the educational, economic, moral and social standards of Negroes in Pottstown, includes only Negroes in its ranks.

Among reports heard at the meeting, presided over by Dr. Daniel Lee, Pottstown physician, was one on plans for establishing a scholarship to be awarded some local pupil in September, 1951.

The group's charter, recently applied for, has been approved by the Montgomery County courts. League Secretary James H. Corum said, and will be presented at an open meeting by Herbert C. Nelson, Norristown attorney.

At the next meeting, to be held Oct. 7 at the Second Baptist church, the speaker probably will be Hobson Reynolds, prominent Philadelphia mortician and former Philadelphia magistrate now serving on the Pennsylvania Compensation board.

Three new members were elected during the session held at Bethel AME church with 15 attending.

NEW, MIRACLE ELECTRONIC EAR HIDES DEAFNESS

CHICAGO, (Special)—An amazing new electronic ear which hides deafness and transmits even whispers with startling clarity, has been revealed by a noted Chicago electronic scientist.

He disclosed that this miraculous new discovery has rendered old-style hearing aids obsolete almost overnight, and brings new hope to the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing.

He reported that this electronic ear enables the deaf to hear without any button showing in the ear and without dangling battery wires.

To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with this new miracle electronic ear which hides deafness, full details are described in a fascinating booklet, "New Discoveries to Help the Deaf Hear." It will be sent free in a plain wrapper to anyone who requests it. Address: Electronic Research Director, 1450 West 19th Street, 34-R Belton Building, Chicago 8, Ill. A penny postcard will do.—Adv.

Soviet, Red China Aid to North Koreans Might Have Thrown Back Allied Landings

TOKYO, Sept. 24 (AP)—If Russia or the Chinese Communists ever intended to give important new help to the Korean Reds, they missed their biggest opportunity at the time of the Allied landings at Inchon Sept. 15.

General MacArthur, the United Nations commander, took a formidable, but by no means invincible, force to Inchon for a shoe-string landing that has changed the whole complexion of the Korean conflict.

Maj. Gen. E. M. Almond, commanding the Tenth corps and a veteran of the Italian campaign in World War II, calls it the toughest landing beach he ever has seen—but it was the only one available for the purpose.

Less than one division of troops plunged in on D-Day, while hordes of sweating men labored against time and 28-foot tides to unload the equipment needed to make the landing stick.

The U. S. Seventh Infantry division, scheduled to land on D-plus one (Sept. 16) was delayed for a full day.

MacArthur and his planners counted on surprise to get ashore. They won it, even though the Communist radio at Pyongyang had broadcast in advance the plans for the "invasion," and it had been freely rumored in Tokyo for two weeks beforehand.

MacARTHUR ALSO expected the Reds to pull away from the southern perimeter, as they now are doing. They would have to meet the Inchon-Seoul challenge to their vital supply lines.

No one knew how quickly they could race back north. In the landing area a circle of Pershing tanks faced south, to meet with the thin force available whatever the Reds might hurry up from the south.

Then on Sept. 16 the Allies in the south launched a general offensive that kept the Reds there preoccupied.

The amphibious landing, toughest military operation in the book, was followed Sept. 20 by the second most difficult: a river crossing against stout opposition. Marines, trained for this type of warfare, again were the spearhead.

TO DO THIS, General Almond had to rush the Seventh Division Infantrymen into the positions the Marines had held along the south fringe of the beach and pull the leathernecks north along the Han river.

The first objective after Inchon was the capture of Kimpo airfield. The field was taken, a vicious counterattack was beaten off, and clouds of transport planes immediately opened an airlift to augment the supply channel through Inchon.

Against this rapidly developing offensive the Communists fought both bitterly and poorly. Hundreds of prisoners were taken. Hundreds were killed on the highways and on the ridges.

Red commanders hurled their forces piecemeal at the advancing Americans in the same kind of desperation that marked the first U. S. efforts to halt plunging Communist columns three months ago.

More than 20 Communist tanks were destroyed in the first three days as they hurtled down highways with little of the skill shown by the Reds in the early part of the campaign.

Eagles, Greenies Win in Perk

Royersford Runs To 13-6 Triumph Over Boyertown

Paced by the burrowing brilliance of a pair of reserve backs, Royersford High's overland express ground out a 13-6 victory over Boyertown High Saturday at Royersford in an opening game of the Perkiomen-Schuylkill league's Big Four set.

Lou Alexander and Gary Grater, elevated to starting halfback posts when injury and sickness hit the Eagle squad last week, scampered for a total of 149 yards between them while essaying both Royersford TDs.

Alexander sliced off tackle and into the end zone from six yards out to climax a 51-yard Eagle march in the second period; and Grater rammed guard for the final three pegs of a 55-yard drive in the third stanza. Little Lou added an extra point on a plunge after the Greater tally.

It was a pounding ground duel, witnessed by 2000 fans who were lifted from their chairs and onto the field in a full of busting backs kept breaking loose and threatening to go the distance.

The day's longest run was reeled off by Boyertown's George Unger, a dashman, who circled end, cut back and through the entire Eagle lineup to race 70 yards to the only Bruin tally in the final period.

ROYERSFORD, whose T-formation was ably directed by Emilio Cinicripino, took to the air unsuccessfully in the opening stanza, then came to earth with vengeance to run up a total of 11 running first downs on 235 yards from scrimmage.

Boyertown leaned more heavily on its passing game as T-pilot Os Koons pitched 15 times and completed five. But only the shorties were working for Koons, who saw two aerials short-circuited and three more pop out of the hands of his jittery receivers.

THE EAGLES lost heavily on penalties and saw two first quarter touchdowns called back because of infractions.

The first tally-nullifying penalty was called after a Cinicripino to Bob Troxell pass clicked at the Bear 25, where Troxell lateraled to tackle Jack Krasley, who skipped across untouched.

Later in the period, Mike Ralston knocked down Bill Meckler's attempted punt and Troxell scooped it up and ran 15 yards to the end zone. But a needless clipping infraction voided that effort.

Boyertown managed to work its way out of each situation, but when, early in the second period, the Eagles took over after a punt they were off to the races.

From the Eagle 49, Krasley circled end for 18 pegs, Alexander shot over guard for 16, Freddie DePaoli slipped through for another 11, and finally, Alexander burrowed off tackle the remaining six payoff yards. After Cincy's placement went wide, the Eagles led 6-0.

BOYERTOWN, which had churned up considerable yardage in the first half as Dick Yergey pulled several dazzling runs, was unable to move the ball just after the half, and Royersford took over at its own 45 after a ten-yard kick runback by Gary Foreman.

Eight plays later, the Eagles netted their second score. A 13-yard bash by Grater and Alexander's 14-yarder off tackle bridged much of the gap, and on two plays from the five, Grater smashed over. Alexander hit tackle for the point and the free-wheeling Eagles were on top, 13-0.

IT WAS BEGINNING to look like a rout when Koons, flinging desperately, was unable to generate any overhead threat. Royersford, meanwhile, stirred up a threat of its own that carried into Bruin turf before two maximum penalties canceled the bid. At length, Cincy booted out of bounds at the Boyertown 11 at the quarter.

After on exchange, the Bruins were in possession from their own 30. Suddenly, Unger, who hadn't gained extensively on previous carries, whipped around right end, found himself bottled and shot back over tackle. He made a diagonal run for the sidelines, found blocking and streaked all the way. It was 13-6, and remained that way when Meckler's conversion attempt was wide.

BLOCKING OF both brigades was crisp, deadly, but there were defensive gleamers, too. Bill Judge and Gene Lincoln accounted for many Eagle tackles, while reserve (Continued on Page Thirteen)

Norco Tops C-T 13-7

Cowboys Crush WP, 37-6

By GARY TROLLINGER
North Coventry High's second half offense was spelled W-A-M-P-L-E-R as the 160-pound Wildcat fullback led his team to a pair of grinding last quarter touchdowns to overtake and down Collegeville, 13-7, Saturday on the C-T gridiron.

Wampler who calls the plays from his fullback post, carried 23 consecutive times in moving the leather three or four bruising yards at a time, with his 23rd buck carrying into the end zone for the score that pulled the Cats from behind, 6-7.

After seeing a belated second quarter drive from their own 30 fizzle on the Norco 21 with the ending of the first half, the Cats capitalized on Lorrin Beldier's fumble into his own end zone to take a 6-0 lead. Irvin Keyser, C-T left end pounced on the loose leather after it squirted from the scrappy Norco tailback's grasp on the Cat three.

Johnny Moorehead, the bulwark of the losers' offense all afternoon, swept around right end after a wild pass from center had ruled out a placement try for the extra point.

Wampler's crazily bounding 61-yard kick from his own 39 in to the hosts end zone shortly after the Cats TD actually set up the Cats' initial score. For on a second down contemplated line buck by Moorehead, the ball fell on the 11 with no one in possession until Bill McKee, Norco tackle, dropped over it.

WAMPLER BLASTED the line four times, gaining a first down on the one on the third try and driving into paydirt after a romp over the short side of the Cats' single wing forward wall. His point after touchdown placement was low and batted down by the center of the Collegeville line. Collegeville 7, Norco 6.

Collegeville received the kickoff and returned it to the 36. Three running plays lost a total of three yards. Then Moorehead dropped back for a boot into the wind. He punted straight up and down... seven yards behind the line of scrimmage, where the eager Cats took over.

The only other man on the Norco team to hold the ball on the ensuing 11 plays besides Wampler was the Red and White's center, George Roadcap.

Wampler finally scored the deciding six points on a fourth down off-tackle smash from the two, and then hurried a strike to long Bill Jones for the 13th point.

The Cats' last hope flitted out of the county minutes later when an errant pass from center was scooped up by Norco's Bill Rhymer on the (Continued on Page Thirteen)

By JOE CAPALDI
A deceptive West Reading team capitalizing on a potent running attack completely outclassed West Pottstown High school, 37-6, in its initial test in West Reading Saturday afternoon.

Jack Shaner returned Elmer Sabo opening kickoff to the 20 on the next play little Carl Schnellbach, on an end run, galloped 80 yards for the initial TD of the day. Pass attempt for the extra point was incomplete.

Late in the second period West Reading set up its offensive machine when Jack Rhoda intercepted Carl Mest pass and raced 34 yards. After a few ground plays failed quarterback Shaner took to the air and hit Bill Kaley with eight-yard pass to give the Cowboys their second TD. Schnellbach plunged for the extra point to make the score 13-0.

Frank was held for no gain and Duka was snatched for a ten-yard loss on his first attempt. Stoneback then passed to Sweenk, the play being good for 25 yards, advancing the ball to the Spring City 30.

Two line plays and two passes, Stoneback to Duka, carried it to the one-yard line, from which point it was an easy matter for Stoneback to tally the first score, but the try for the extra point, via a pass, missed when Stoneback's toss failed to hit its mark.

THE BALL remained in Spring City territory the entire first quarter, until the last few plays, when the Pirates advanced from their own 35 on a pass, Neborak to Howe, for a first down, followed up by two rushing first downs in succession, which put the ball on the East Greenville 20-yard marker.

Enthusied by this spark of offensive, Mosteller took the ball on the first play of the second period and sped to the Greenies' goal along the sidelines, after breaking through around left end. Taschner's try for the extra point was not good.

Duka broke this tie when he took Erb's next kick-off for his thrilling 94-yard run. He accepted the kick-off on his own six-yard line and headed straight up the rectangle through a broken field, evading all tacklers and finally outdistancing all pursuers.

Stoneback plunged for the extra point. It was 13-6, EG.

AFTER STAGING a midfield duel, the Greenies scored again the latter part of the same quarter, when Frank broke through the left side of Spring City's defense from his 20-yard line and raced 80 yards for a touchdown, which upped the score to 19 to 6. The try for the point again failed.

Deprived of any scoring in the third quarter, Duka scored for the Greenies from the Pirate 35 in the last period, after advancing to that point on a 25-yard pass from Stoneback. Stoneback plunged for the extra point, but failed to register.

Mosteller carried Miller's next kick-off 20 yards to the 40-yard line, which was the start of the Pirates' last scoring offensive. A pass to Carl and gains by Taschner and Christ advanced the pigskin to the 35-yard line, where Mosteller duplicated his earlier performance by winging his way around left end for a score. Taschner tried to boot the extra point, but failed to get it high enough off the ground.

Mike Duka Leads EG to 25-12 Win Over Spring City

A big, battle-wise East Greenville High eleven, spearheaded by a trio of incoherent backs, ran over a game Spring City Pirate band, 25-12, Saturday at Spring City in a Perk league opener.

Touchdown runs of 94 yards by Mike Duka and 80 yards by Bobby Franks, plus a one-yard plunge by bulky Ray Stoneback gave the Greenies a 19-6 lead at halftime. They were matched in kind by the scrappy Bucs in the final half, but by then the Greenies had their second victory salted away.

Bob Mosteller scored both Spring City touchdowns on end sweeps when he circled the defense line and outran the Greenie secondary, once in the second quarter, once in the last.

PAUL NEBORAK, Spring City halfback, took the opening kick off and was downed on the 25-yard stripe. Christ and Neborak gained five yards between them on the first two plays, before Neborak booted out of bounds on the East Greenville 44-yard line, from which point the Greenies advanced for the first score.

Frank was held for no gain and Duka was snatched for a ten-yard loss on his first attempt. Stoneback then passed to Sweenk, the play being good for 25 yards, advancing the ball to the Spring City 30.

Scholastics Spoil Owls' Night Grid Opener, 6-0

A 57-yard gallop by Bill Dougherty in the early minutes of the game netted the night's only tally and gave the Allentown Scholastics a 6-0 victory over the Gabelsville Owls Saturday night on Owl field.

The lengthy romp spoiled the Owls' opener and home night inaugural before a large crowd that braved chilly winds to watch the two clubs lock up in bitter defensive battle.

Dougherty's run climaxed a 75-yard drive from the opening kickoff for the Scholastics. A short pass and two belts at the Owl line netted a first down, then, on the fourth play from scrimmage, Dougherty found a gaping hole at tackle and scooted all the way. Hal Beitler's attempted conversion was no good.

THE OWLS, who outgained the foe on the ground and in the air and ran up a total of 11 first downs to six for the visitors, threatened twice in the fourth quarter, but were thwarted on both occasions.

The passing of Pete Peroni and fine running of Paul Axsmith and John Pender, all Pottstown High grads, worked Gabelsville to the Allentown nine yard line but a fumble voided the drive.

After a pass interception and a five-yard penalty, the Owls drove to the Allentown five-yard line later, but Dougherty short-circuited a Peroni aerial to halt that final bid.

Gabelsville gained a net of 223 yards, while the Scholastics piled up 203 pegs.

TROJANS MEET UPPER MERION

Pottstown High's Trojans and the Upper Merion Spartans, who elected not to play in Friday's rains line up tonight on Franklin field at 8 o'clock in what promises to be topcoat and ear muff weather.

The weatherman has promised genuine "football weather" for the Trojan opener with temperatures ranging well below 50 degrees. Good weather of bad, the Trojans were pronounced ready for their first test yesterday by Coach Heeb Meyers, who will present a virtually new line and a half-new backfield for Franklin field fans. There will be no change in the Pottstown lineup announced for the Friday game.

In the Trojan backfield, it will be Stan Chaplin directing the T-attack from quarterback, seeking Sam Green at fullback and co-captaining the team; and Earl Decker and Alex Czarick at halfbacks. In the PHS line, co-captain Paul Duttonhofer and Tom Pollick will open at ends, George Ciskic and Harry Hausman at tackles, Herbie White and Willie Walton at guards and newcomer Dick Hiddeman at center.

Upper Merion, which bowed, 19-7, to Ambler in its opener a week ago, announced two changes. George McKernan replaces the injured Joe Dudas at right end, while Dale Stehman goes instead of Elijah Clarke at left halfback.

TROJAN FOES SHOW POWER

While the Trojans were idling because of Friday's falling weather, future foes put on a whopping demonstration of power as three of them won and two were beaten.

West Chester got off to a rousing start in the Ches-mont league (which does not officially open for football this year) when it trounced Bridgeport, 35-0.

Phoenixville ran up a 27-0 victory over Howard of Wilmington, while Downingtown bruised another Wilmington team, 20-6. Coatesville was the lone victim of weekend play, bowing, 13-6, to Hershey Industrial.

Ben Franklin was idle, while Norristown meets Radnor tonight after the game was rained out Friday.

Nazarene Church To Start Revivals Tomorrow Night

Royersford Church of the Nazarene will begin its Fall revival campaign tomorrow night, with services every night at 7:45 o'clock, through Oct. 8.

The Rev. Claude Jones, evangelist, of Bel Air, Md., will be the speaker each night. A preacher of much experience and coming here highly recommended, he has held meetings in New York, Virginia, Kentucky and several other states. Special music will be provided by the chorus and members of the local church.

Friday night, Oct. 6, the West Chester zone rally of the NYPS will be conducted in connection with the revival service. The Rev. Harold Parry, pastor of the West Grove Church of the Nazarene, zone president of the NYPS, will have charge of this service, but the evangelist will deliver the message. Delegations from nearby places will attend from night to night.

The Nazarenes are Wesleyan in doctrine and are holding tenaciously to the doctrine of entire sanctification, as taught by the Rev. John Wesley, founder of Methodism.

During the past year the Nazarene denomination as a whole has had a per capita giving of $110 per member, and all money is raised by tithes and free will offerings. The expense of the present revival will be taken care of by the free will offerings of the church members.

The Rev. George W. Andrews, pastor, extended a public invitation to all denominations to attend real, lively old-fashioned revivals. Persons who have no way of reaching the church are asked to contact Pastor Andrews by telephoning Royersford 457.

Area Couple to Observe Wedding Anniversary

Mrs. Oehlert's aunt, Mrs. Jane Saylor, a guest at the GI home, 65th and Vine streets, Philadelphia, observed her 104th birthday anniversary yesterday. Mrs. Saylor at one time resided in Spring City and frequently visited here.

Hospital Women to Meet Tonight in Local Center

Buton Club Presents

Jenny Lind Program

Members of the Pennsylvania Dutch Antique Buton club recently met as guest of Mrs. Paul J. Henry, 555 Main street, Royersford. A Jenny Lind program proved a highlight of the meeting, beginning with a discussion of the Jenny Lind buton and a paper on her life, by Mrs. Harry Kastle, Parkersburg, W. Va. Mrs. Martin read a poem which formed the lyrics of a favorite song of the actress, and Mrs. Kastle played the Jenny Lind waltz.

Miss Bauer, Oley, sang two of Jenny Lind's songs, amid a Jenny Lind display of buttons. Members of the group made appropriate favors which were presented to each member.

The meeting, the first of its kind held in Royersford, was attended by members from Coatesville, Berwyn, Norristown, Parkersburg, Pottstown, Oley, Mt. Penn, Reading, Ephrata and Lancaster. The hostess served refreshments after the meeting.

Mrs. Henry has a display of her own thousands of buttons which has attracted the admiration of many of her friends.

'Preaching Mission' To Feature Sermons By Seminary Head

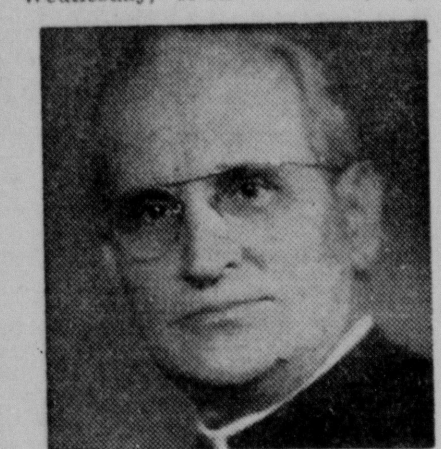

A six-day "preaching mission" which will culminate in a preparatory service for World Communion Sunday Friday night opened in Trinity Reformed church last night.

Services will be held at the church at 7:30 o'clock every night, the Rev. John B. Frantz, pastor, announced. Guest speaker for the services from tomorrow through Friday will be Dr. Allan S. Meck, president of the Lancaster Theological Seminary of the Evangelical and Reformed church, Lancaster.

The series began last night with the showing of a religious motion picture entitled, "Second Chance." The same picture will be shown tonight in the second service of the series.

Dr. Meck, who served pastorates in Ephrata, Easton and York before becoming president of the Lancaster seminary, will speak on the following themes during the mission:

Tomorrow, "A Living Church"; Wednesday, "A Revival of Loyalty";

DR. ALLAN S. MECK

Thursday, "Christ's Incredible Faith in Us"; and Friday, "A Passion for Souls."

THE SERVICE Friday night will be a preparatory service for the Holy Communion which will be administered at three services on Sunday. World Communion Sunday will be observed by churches at that time.

Music for the services include selections by the Meistersingers, directed by Mrs. Norman G. Lepper, at tomorrow night's service; solos by the Rev. Frantz at each service, and anthems by the senior choir Thursday and Friday nights. Mrs. Lepper, minister of music at the church, will preside at the organ for all services.

In addition, the favorite hymns of the congregation will be used throughout the week.

"This 'preaching mission' is held in Trinity church in co-operation with the United Evangelistic Advance of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and the Commission on Evangelism of the Evangelical and Reformed church," the Rev. Frantz said, as he announced the public would be welcomed.

Ministers and lay members of the Reformed churches in Pottstown, Shenkel, Linfield, Spring City, Royersford, Linfield, Collegeville, Pennsburg, New Hanover, East Greenville, Boyertown, Bechtelsville and Amityville have been invited to participate in the mission.

Young Communists Try To Break Up Union Rally

BOCHUM, Germany, Sept. 24 (AP)—Hundreds of riotous young Communists tried to break up a rally of 30,000 trade union miners here today. Flying squads of West German police arrested about 800 of the Communist troublemakers.

Carrying Communist banners, shouting Communist slogans and jeering West German President Theodor Heuss, the young Communists began by harassing a parade of the Miners' Trade union, which is non-Communist. When a group of policemen tried to seize their banners, the Communists crowded the police against a wall. A flying squad then charged in and broke up the struggle.

St. Aloysius Pulpit Blessed, Put Into Use; Is First in 94-Year History of Church Here

For the first time in its 94-year history the St. Aloysius Catholic church yesterday had a pulpit for masses.

The hand-wrought white pine and cherry pulpit was put into use at the 5:45 a. m. mass after being blessed privately at services Saturday night conducted by the Rev. David V. Leahy.

Never in its nearly 100 years had St. Aloysius church had a pulpit. The Rev. William M. Begley, church rector, said last night that the church had considered for some time purchasing a pulpit from a commercial manufacturer.

By chance, the priest learned of the excellent woodwork turned out by Karl M. Pacanovsky-Palmer, woodworking instructor at The Hill school. Palmer was contacted on behalf of the church's Altar and Rosary society by Father Leahy and arrangements for the pulpit were made.

THE PULPIT is octagonal in shape, 36 inches wide and 54 inches high. Of Gothic design, it is ringed in front and at the sides with five columns. A handcarved cross fills the entire front panel.

All the wood in the pulpit is white pine, except for the caps and bases of the columns which are tooled in cherry from an altar formerly used at the church. The wood was stained and finished with five coats of finely polished lacquer.

Pacanovsky-Palmer began work on the pulpit the past July 26. It was delivered to the church on Thursday.

Red Fifth Columnists Harass British Army

SENNELAGER, Germany, Sept. 24 (AP)—Communist wall slogans reading "Tommy go home" lent an air of realism to the British army Autumn maneuvers which began in Germany today.

Lessons of the Korean campaign are to be studied in the week-long exercises. One of these is protection against a Fifth column and the handling of the type of the Communist "infiltrators" who have severely harassed the United Nations troops.

As units of the 2d British Infantry division moved from their Ruhr barracks to the exercises today they saw scrawled on walls the signs of West Germany's Fifth column. The militant Free German youth (FDJ), spearhead of the Communist campaign in the British zone, apparently had been busy.
